Those who are unaware of the incident in question can read about it here. Not since the 2006 Winter Olympics, where serial streaker Mark Roberts burst out into the bronze medal curling event has a rubber chicken been so embarrassed.

The media is claiming this incident is quite foul but it seems pretty paltry to me. Clearly North Melbourne's reputation is stuffed but did they deserve the roasting they received?

Did Mr Bean ever get accused of graphic and sexual indecency over his failed attempts at preparing a Christmas turkey? What about Pepe Le Pew and his misogynistic interspecies pursuit of Penelope Pussycat? And how about the rubber chicken wielding knight from Monty Python's Flying Circus and his flagrant encouragement of battery and assault?

I think this is just a case of too many journalists and not enough news.

Turning now to footy tipping news, while Jesse and Melissa consolidated their leading positions with 7 out of 8 correct tips for 3 weeks straight the weekly prize goes to Leanne who is announcing to anybody who will listen how she managed to correctly tip Essendon.

AFL can be a rather brutal sport:

Check out Scott Lucas's swollen elbow

Matthew Kreuzer with 2 separate gashes to the head

But spare a thought for the serious injuries the umpires have to sustain:

Field umpire Michael Vozzo cops an incredible severe "hand on the shoulder"

Lookalikes

Fraser Gehrig and his beard have retired from AFL, but facial fashion is not dead. I give you...drumroll...Ben Hudson!

For those who might want to build their own Lego Ben Hudson, you will need one Minifig Head with Stern Expression, Flowing Orange Beard, and Moustache Pattern (Piece No. 3626bpx321).
