

Weekly wrap up

Thursday, 21 April 2011						Home	Away
7:40pm		Brisbane Lions	vs.		St. Kilda	Gabba	$3.45	$1.30
Saturday, 23 April 2011
2:40pm		Port Adelaide	vs.		Gold Coast	AAMI Stadium	$1.04	$9.50
7:10pm		Carlton	vs.		Adelaide	Etihad Stadium	$1.25	$3.75
Sunday, 24 April 2011
4:40pm		North Melbourne	vs.		Richmond	Etihad Stadium	$1.85	$1.90
Monday, 25 April 2011
2:40pm		Essendon	vs.		Collingwood	M.C.G.	$4.00	$1.22
6:40pm		Fremantle	vs.		Western Bulldogs	Patersons Stadium	$1.65	$2.15
Tuesday, 26 April 2011
2.40pm		Hawthorn	vs.		Geelong	M.C.G.	$2.05	$1.72
Byes		Melbourne
		Sydney
		West Coast

Just another typical week in football; 7 matches of football spanning 6 days and the start of a “Footy Fiesta” of 14 games of football played across 11 days (Rounds 5 and 6) with only two football days in between. Such a regular, run-of-the-mill footy occurrence seems like the apt opportunity for Gold Coast to win a match. Never mind all the doubting Thomases and sceptics bad-mouthing the Suns; I always had faith in ‘em...

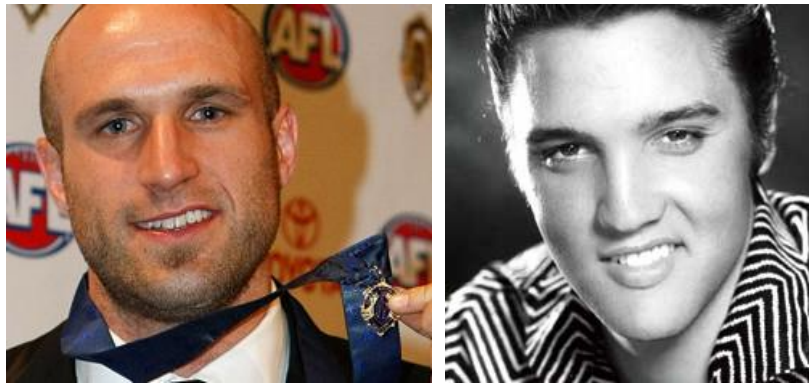

Say “cheese” and spot the visual metaphors

With Gold Coast actually winning this round, who am I going to make fun of? Perhaps someone who, after having missed 10 of their previous 15 tips, decided to place the default volatile strategy of “all underdogs” in an effort to regain lost ground. Would have been perfect this round too except for the “except Gold Coast” exception which I accepted without exception.

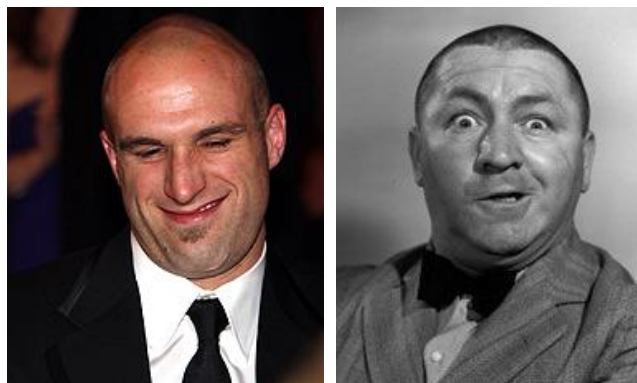

One person did deliberately tip Gold Coast: Patrick. Perhaps being away for the first 4 rounds of the year meant that he wasn’t tainted by their previous pitiful performances. Whatever the reason, Patrick snared $12.47, more than double the average result across all tipsters this round.

Fun & Games

Lookalikes

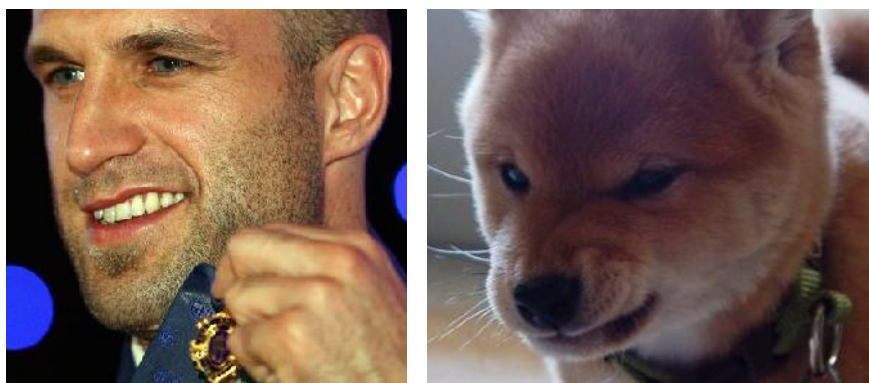

Go and Google "Chris Judd". In posed photos, he has a persistent crooked lip, like Elvis...Thank you or Curly from The Three Stooges...Nuck Nuck

or this random gorgeous baby...Goo Gah

or this even more random, but even more gorgeous puppy...Grr